International exhibition for Agricultural Technology,
Animal Husbandry and Horticulture

The Market

Agriculture in the UAE is becoming vital for economic diversification, moving away from oil dependency. Despite challenges like an arid climate and limited water, modern technologies such as drip irrigation and vertical farming boost productivity and promote sustainability. Government initiatives aim to enhance local production, secure food supply, and reduce imports as part of a broader economic strategy.

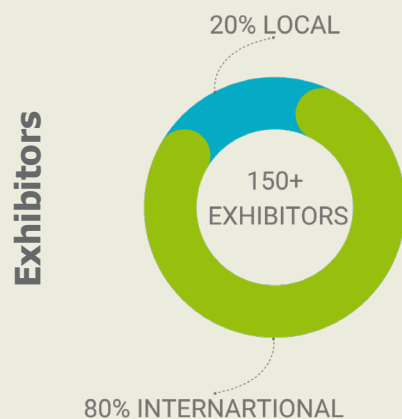

Animal husbandry in the UAE has cultural significance, especially with traditional breeding of camels, sheep, and goats. Modernization has led to more intensive farming, including poultry and cattle. The government supports sustainable practices and aims to improve animal welfare, though challenges persist.

The Exhibition

AgroFarm Middle East will take place from October 6th to 7th, 2025 at the Dubai World Trade Center (DWTC) parallel to the established AgraME exhibition and will offer visitors an extensive and diverse range of opportunities to get acquainted with the latest trends and advances in agriculture.

In 2024, over 150 exhibitors from 30 countries presented their products for horticulture, animal husbandry, plant cultivation, vertical farming and aquaculture to 6,000 trade visitors from 180 countries.

Why exhibit at AgroFarm?

- Connect with professionals: Agricultural exhibitions provide a platform for networking with industry professionals, including farmers, distributors and suppliers.
- Networking: Connect with industry leaders, experts, and potential partners.
- Business opportunities: Explore potential business partnerships, collaborations and investment opportunities within the livestock sector. Agriculture and livestock are seen as key sectors to contribute to economic diversification, ensuring long-term sustainability.
- Strategic location: Dubai serves as a global crossroad, positioned between Europe, Asia, and Africa. This makes it an ideal hub for trade and commerce, facilitating the import and export of agricultural and livestock products.
- Investment in infrastructure: Dubai has made significant investments in modern infrastructure, including state-of-the-art facilities for agriculture and livestock. This includes advanced farming technologies, research and development centers, and logistics infrastructure.
- Food security focus: The UAE, including Dubai, places a high priority on food security. There are initiatives and policies in place to promote local food production and reduce dependence on imports, creating opportunities for agricultural and livestock businesses.
- Thriving tourism sector: Dubai's booming tourism and hospitality industry contribute to the demand for diverse food products, including high-quality meat, dairy and fresh produce, creating opportunities for agricultural and livestock businesses.
